

THE TOP HAT FOR 1957

VOLUME FOUR
OLIVER PERRY MORTON
HIGH SCHOOL
HAMMOND, INDIANA

Statue of Gov. Morton in front of Indiana Capitol, Indianapolis

"We must then cling to the idea that we are a nation, one and indivisible, and that, although subdivided by state lines for local and domestic purposes, we are one people . . ." These words of Oliver Perry Morton, Indiana's Civil War governor and the man for whom Morton High School is named, may be found on an engraved plaque between the trophy cases at the front entrance to the school and on the masthead of the Mortonite, MHS newspaper.

Gov. Morton was a Hoosier by birth; he was born in Wayne County (Richmond) in 1823, ten years after the famous victory over the British on Lake Erie by Oliver Hazard Perry, after whom he was named. This means that indirectly MHS is the namesake of two men, each of whom played a big role in the Midwest during a time in which the United States government was in grave peril.

Morton became a noted attorney in Centerville. As Bruce Catton pointed out, "In that time and place the law courts had the limelight, and a gifted thunderer was known by the people and could hardly avoid a political career. Morton would not have avoided it." An unsuccessful candidate for governor in 1856, he was elected lieutenant governor in 1860.

Then, with the resignation of Gov. Henry Lane to enter the national Senate in 1861, Lt.-Gov. Morton became Gov. Morton. In the words of Catton, "As far as the Midwest was concerned, Morton was the union cause incarnate . . ." The war years were a time of mental conflict for many Indianians who lived in the southern part of the state and sympathized with the South. If it had not been for the guidance of Gov. Morton, Indiana might not have supported Lincoln and the northern cause as much as it did.

Although many persons thought that Morton had become a "dictator," a majority of voters in Indiana's 1864 gubernatorial election wanted him to continue filling the governor's chair. However, he resigned from that position two years later to become a United States Senator.

In 1907 a statue of Morton was unveiled in front of the Indiana Capitol in Indianapolis. It faces the Indiana Civil War Soldiers and Sailors' Monument in the heart of the city. What more fitting place for a memorial to the man "ever to be known in history as the Great War Governor"?

MORTONITES' lockers messy? Don't be naive! They may be full, but they're always neat as a pin, as evidenced by Janet Jeppeson's.

"PEACE AND Prosperity" was the theme of the Republicans in the 1956 Presidential campaign. There was no doubt that the latter condition was prevalent as far as high schoolers were concerned; that is, if Morton's student parking lot was any indication.

English, Speech, Foreign Language Classes

Mortonites Study Own Language

A RECORDING of Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" holds the attention of Miss Virginia Davis' sophomore English class. Students studied grammar as well as various types of literature in this class.

A PANEL consisting of Jack Ward, Jack Mandernack, Don Ritchey, Judy Klen, Vivian Buldak, and Cecelia Clark is learning good speech habits in Frank Palko's Speech V class.

STUDENTS IN Mrs.

Norma Kelly's Composition VIII class are using the Atlantic Monthly, for which each one subscribed, as a source of information for their weekly themes. Comp prepared seniors for the rigors of college work.

but Aren't Limited to English

Students at Morton last year had opportunities to learn to read, write, and speak their own language more effectively through the MHS English Department, headed by Miss Mabel Hunter, and the Speech Department, of which Winston Becker is the head. They might also have studied another language through the Foreign Language Department, of which Walter Ruff is the chairman.

Freshman and sophomore English classes concentrated on underclassmen's learning good grammar and becoming familiar with various types of literature. Basic theme and letter writing skills were taught students during their first two years in high school, during which they also were exposed to such literary works as myths, David Copperfield, Silas Marner, "Julius Caesar," and short stories.

Juniors had opportunities to improve their writing in either English V or Composition V; the former was less difficult than the latter. In American literature, juniors developed a better understanding of American culture from colonial times to the present.

Seniors could take a survey course in English literature, studying the great authors of England, their writings, and their influence today. They were also offered an advanced composition course, in which they could learn style and sentence improvement.

Journalism students made up a large part of the staff of the Mortonite, MHS newspaper.

SPANISH IV students are enjoying themselves while learning the cha-cha from Miss Della Narcisi, their teacher.

In speech classes students learned to overcome self-consciousness in public speaking situations, including the following: making introductions, after-dinner speeches, and announcements; telling stories; carrying on discussions; debating, and radio speaking. They also learned the methods of organizing speech material and the fundamentals of parliamentary procedure.

Four semesters of Spanish and four of Latin were offered Morton students. They could learn the basic vocabulary and grammar of a foreign language, and therefore learn to read and write that language. Advanced Spanish students read an entire Spanish novel, and Latin IV students studied writings of Livy and Julius Caesar.

"NOW THERE will be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth!"
This cry of doom is heard by students in Walter Ruff's freshman Latin class as the next victim is selected to recite.

Mathematics, Science Classes

The Students of Today Will Make the Progress of Tomorrow

are trying to prove theorems on the blackboard.

LEARNING TO work the slide rule is an interesting part of Glenn Flansburg's Algebra VI class, agree this trio. They also studied logarithms, permutations, combinations, probability, and progressions.

THOSE PROBLEMS must be hard, judging by the faces of these students in Charles Chidester's practical math class. The course consisted of a review of fundamentals of arithmetic computation.

FLORENCE HART is busy examining a specimen under a microscope in the biology laboratory. Biology students, taught by Donald Harper, Julian Rasmussen, and Gerald Spitzer, often took field trips to discover the wonders of nature and gather specimens for use in the lab.

Mathematics and science are needed not only by those students who plan to enter the fields of engineering or science, but by all students who hope to be able to think out adult problems logically, who want a well-rounded education, and who desire a broad outlook on life. Only with these attributes will adults of tomorrow be able to make progress no matter what their fields.

Morton's Mathematics Department is headed by Glenn Flansburg. The Science Department is the only chairmanless department in the school.

Students in general math and practical math classes reviewed the fundamentals of arithmetic.

Freshman algebra introduced students to signed numbers, equations, formulas, and graphs; junior, or advanced, algebra went further, dealing with imaginary numbers, logarithms, and determinants.

Plane geometry was offered to sophomores, while seniors could take solid geometry and trigonometry. The latter course dealt with triangles and their functions.

All Morton students must take health and safety, offering instruction in principles of physical, mental, and emotional health, as well as safety.

Each Morton student must also take two semesters of at least one other science. Biology dealt with botany and zoology and gave students many opportunities to use microscopes. Physics students learned about physical science — motion, light, power, sound — and Morton's junior chemists studied the various forms of matter and the chemical changes which they undergo.

ROBERT ATKINS of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Co. holds the attention of one of Mrs. Esther Hand's physics classes as he discusses opportunities in the field of science.

MRS. HAND, Richard Jarnagin, Tony DeRosa, and Carol Krupa are intent on watching a demonstration being run in the physics-chemistry laboratory.

GIRLS IN Mrs. Dorothy Smith's stenography class take practice dictation from Karen Daniel. The two-hour course covered both advanced shorthand and advanced typing.

JANIS FRANKOVICH is the center of attention in this mock trial being conducted by students in Nick Luketic's business law class. Court proceedings were part of the commercial law studied by students in this class, which was offered to juniors and seniors.

SALESMANSHIP STUDENTS, taught by Mrs. Estelle Gress, are interested in techniques used by Judy Fleming in selling.

Commercial Classes

Mortonites Study for Office Jobs

Last year the Commercial Department, headed by Mrs. Dorothy Smith, prepared Morton students for the business world.

General business presented business essentials to students planning to take no further business courses. Bookkeeping readied students for bookkeeping positions; business law aimed to give the student an understanding of commercial law, and salesmanship presented general merchandising principles.

Personal and office typewriting skills were taught in typing classes, and shorthand students studied Gregg Shorthand Simplified. Advanced typing and shorthand were combined, forming stenography, a two-period course. Clerical practice students studied filing and various computing and duplicating machines.

CLERICAL PRACTICE students learn to operate various business machines with Mrs. Dorothy Soderberg's assistance.

THESE STUDENTS in Anthony Wauro's high school art class certainly are intent on their artistic creations. Mortonites may take high school art for as many semesters as their programs allow.

MISS BARBARA Miller accompanies a quartet of boys while the rest of the members of her high school music class listen closely. The class served as a training course for high school choir.

Music, Art Classes

Fine Arts Broaden Students' Interest

The Music Department, headed by Miss Barbara Miller and John Melton, and the Art Department, headed by Anthony Wauro, familiarized Morton students with the fine arts.

The high school vocal music class acted as a training course for the choir, an organization, like the band, with the status of a class. The orchestra, however, met but twice a week; therefore, an orchestra member who didn't belong to the band had to practice individually for an hour daily if he hoped to get an instrumental music credit. Bandmen could also practice individually daily, although they didn't get any credit for this practice.

High school art, the only class in its department, was an introductory course based on a variety of art mediums.

"EINS, ZWEI, drei, spiel!" Band and orchestra director John Melton spent a good part of his time giving individual lessons to young musicians like Nahcy Hoffman, shown with the bass viol.

JOHN BREGER certainly isn't a bit interested in that masterpiece which Jim Bobowski and Dave Herring are taking out of the oven in Miss Jacqueline Martine's boys' foods class.

Home economics classes in the department headed by Miss Jacqueline Martine taught young persons the skills needed to run a home.

In clothing classes, girls learned to make separates and full garments by the use of machines, patterns, and different materials.

The home management course was a study of family and community relationships, child development, and home furnishings; and home nursing emphasized the wise use of community health facilities while enabling students to learn the principles of first aid and child growth.

Foods classes were designed for students to learn about nutrition and the buying, preparing, and serving of food.

Practical Arts Classes

and Prepare for Jobs in Calumet Industry

The Practical Arts Department, of which Robert Fraser is the chairman, prepared Morton boys for jobs in Calumet area industries.

Mechanical drawing students were taught the use of mechanical drawing instruments and ways to do several different types of drawing.

Students in woodworking classes learned skills in developing projects for the school and home, studying such things as making joints and gluing, turning, and finishing wood.

Senior boys could take job-and-trade information, which was divided into four parts: an appraisal of individual job interests, a general and an individual study of occupations, and a survey of job opportunities in the Calumet Region.

Social Studies Classes

The Study of People: Citizenship Training

Mortonites were taught about people in the world around them by teachers in the Social Studies Department, of which Mrs. Olive Byers is chairman.

Freshmen learned about natural features and life on the earth in geography classes. Other students studied the history of their own country and the world as a whole, in U. S. history and world history classes, respectively.

Seniors studied American government and either sociology or economics. The former dealt with social problems in general; the latter was mainly concerned with the problems people have in making a living.

Psychology, a course offered for the first time this year, dealt with the factors behind people's actions.

Mortonites Celebrate Homecoming

Greta Simpson was crowned queen of Morton High School's 1956 Homecoming, held Friday, Sept. 14. Greta's court consisted of five girls representing their respective senior homerooms.

The festivities of the annual event compensated somewhat for the loss of the game to Tech, the final score of which was 19 to 13. The game, held at Hammond High Field, was followed by a dance in the Morton gym.

On the Thursday before Homecoming a bonfire pep session was held on the blacktop behind the school. It was followed by a moonlight dance on the blacktop, with music provided by a loud-speaker system.

Elementary Annexation Constructed

SUPERINTENDENT OF Schools Lee L. Caldwell addresses the group gathered to witness the laying of the cornerstone of the new elementary annex.

The elementary annex under construction at the north end of the Morton campus is quickly nearing completion. The elementary children will move into the building next fall.

Rooms in the main building which some elementary classes occupied this spring will be high school classrooms in the fall; rooms in the portables, occupied by the rest of the elementary classes, will be used for a high school student lounge, a high school art room, an ungraded classroom, and an elementary playroom.

The new annex of 13 rooms is being built by the Leo Reuth and Sons Construction Co.

THE EXTERIOR of the new elementary building takes on a look of readiness for the students that will occupy it in September.

A GOOD framework is essential for a strong roof in any building, and the one in the elementary annex looks solid.

THIS VIEW shows the main entrance of the new elementary annex at Morton. The annex will be completed by the fall of 1957.

Curtain Goes Up for First Time on

Two firsts took place on the Morton High School theater scene this year: the first serious play in the high school's four-year history was presented, and the senior play for the first time was an adult, name, Broadway hit, instead of a high school comedy. Both departures from the usual were well-accepted.

The Theater Guild presentation of "Jane Eyre," a play with a nineteenth century setting, occurred Nov. 9. In the play, Jane Eyre, fresh out of an orphanage, is hired as the governess of Mr. Rochester's daughter. At first Jane thinks that the aura of mystery about the Rochester home is just part of her imagination, but many strange happenings increase her suspicions. The sudden arrival of Mr. Mason, an old school friend of Mr. Rochester's, whom the latter receives very coldly, adds to the general confusion. When Jane learns that Mr. Rochester's insane wife is being kept upstairs by the supposed seamstress, her marriage to Mr. Rochester is called off. However, all turns out happily in the end.

Members of the class of 1957 overcame last-minute difficulties and gave very creditable performances in "Arsenic and Old Lace" May 2 and 3. Written by Joseph Kesselring, the play was first presented in 1941 in New York by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse. Its plot revolves about the two sweet old Brewster sisters, who have 12 dead men buried in their cellar—one of whom died a natural death and 11 of whom they poisoned—and their three nephews: Teddy, who imagines himself to be Theodore Roosevelt; Jonathan, who has just escaped from the Indiana Hospital for Insane Criminals and is himself a mass murderer, and Mortimer, the only sane Brewster.

ZELDA, THE gypsy (Alexandra Gardner), reads the palm of Blanche Ingram (Jan Taylor), while Blanche's mother, Lady Ingram (Connie Parsons), Mr. Mason (Phil Jackson), and the seamstress (Joan Franks) look on with interest in a scene from the Morton production of Marjorie Carleton's dramatization of Jane Eyre.

A TENSE moment occurs in "Jane Eyre" when Mr. Mason stops the marriage ceremony, which was being conducted by the Rev. Mr. Wood (David Wright). Looking on are (standing) Zelda; the seamstress, and Mrs. Fairfax, the housekeeper (Salome Bartos), and (seated) Mrs. Ingram and Blanche.

MORTIMER BREWSTER (Dick Updegraff) prevents his two sweet aunts (Ramona Adams and Betty Feldt), who turn out not to be his aunts at all, from giving a prospective boarder (Dan George) some of their elderberry wine spiked with arsenic, cyanide, and strychnine.

LT. ROONEY (Don Stryzinski) and Officers Klein and Brophy (Jerome Babitz and Wayne Lazar) come to the aid of theater-critic Mortimer, who has been forced to remain bound while Officer O'Hara (George Conger) read him the play he had written.

DAVE VAHORVICH, as Teddy Brewster, who believes himself to be Theodore Roosevelt, yells "Charge!" as he dashes up the Brewster staircase, supposedly San Juan Hill.

Mortonites See Concerts, "Follies,"

HERE ARE two photos of the twirling show. Above, four young drum majorettes demonstrate their twirling techniques, and at right Janet Slivka "plays with fire" in a solo.

There's always something to which to look forward at Morton. This statement is especially true when something refers to an evening program. For besides the Homecoming program, the plays, the banquets, the after-prom party, the Music Festival, and Commencement, there were many other enjoyable evening affairs.

On Dec. 12 there was "Candy Cane Lane," the Junior Red Cross-sponsored fashion show, with models representing various organizations.

There were four Music Department concerts, at which vocal and instrumental groups performed; the drive-in band concert in June, and the twirling show, at which Morton drum majorettes "strutted their stuff," April 9.

And then there were the "Friars' Follies," presented the evening of May 24, a week after high school students had gotten a preview of them in an auditorium session.

MHS Assemblies Are Enjoyable, Inspiring

Morton High School students had a well-rounded assembly schedule during the 1956-57 school year. Programs were planned to entertain, educate, and inspire. They included such things as pep sessions, a Christmas program put on by vocal music students, a band concert, a program of instrumental solos and ensembles, a preview of the "Friars' Follies," a hypnotism show, and an awards assembly.

BILL MAGAN and Don Ritchey hold Phil Jackson aloft to show how stiff he has become under Julian Rasmussen's hypnotic powers in a Morton High School convocation.

told MHS boys of opportunities in his branch.

BILL MAGAN, member of the "Friars' Follies" cast, parades down the aisle in an assembly which gave Mortonites a preview of the following week's evening "Follies" performance.

Oliver Perry Morton isn't the only Indiana governor with whom Morton School has any connection. It has been visited by the last three consecutive governors—Henry F. Schricker, George N. Craig, and Harold W. Handley—during their administrations. Gov. Handley visited the school in May when he was in the area to speak at a banquet.

The governor's visit was arranged by Vernon C. Anderson, former Hammond mayor who is now administrative assistant to the governor. Mortonites were especially happy to welcome Gov. Handley not only because he appointed a Hammondite to be his assistant, but also because he himself is a Northwest Indianian, coming from LaPorte.

Night" at Dances — Formal or Not

Morton students love to dance and attended many dances given during the past year. There were informal and formal dances, elaborately decorated and hurriedly put-together dances, organization-sponsored and class-sponsored dances.

One of the highlights of the social season was "Crystal Cotillion," the winter formal, held in January at Madura's Danceland in Robertsdale. Mickey Isley provided music for this senior class-sponsored affair.

"Tropical Paradise" was the theme of this year's junior-senior prom, sponsored by the junior class. It too was held at Madura's.

In addition, informal dances were held often in the gym or the Civic Center. They included the Homecoming dance; a dance with a calypso theme, sponsored by the Biology Club; the Art Club dance, where guests wore masks, and numerous sock-hops.

Mortonites Laugh, Drink [Milk], and Be

AN ANNUAL event at Morton is the Girls' Athletic Association chapter's Mother-Daughter Banquet. The affair was held this year in the basement of the Concordia Lutheran Church on Marshall Ave.

An entertaining and enjoyable way to celebrate or honor anything or anyone is to have a banquet. With good food and an interesting program any banquet can be a great success.

Morton had its share of banquets during the 1956-57 school year. They were held at the popular Teibel's Restaurant in Schererville, the Morton cafeteria, the basement of the Concordia Lutheran Church on Marshall Ave., or the Wilson School cafeteria.

Banquets held during the year included two athletic banquets, one sponsored by the Morton Adult Booster Club and held at Teibel's and the other sponsored by the Morton Adult Athletic Association and held at Wilson School; the Senior-Faculty Banquet, held at Teibel's; the band and twirlers banquets, each held at Morton, and the banquets of the Morton National Honor Society and Girls' Athletic Association chapters, each held at the Lutheran church.

"THIS IS the Morton band's first-division state award," band director John Melton tells the group at the band banquet.

Budding Scientists Show Stuff at Fairs

THIS VIEW from the balcony of the Tech High School gym shows some of the projects displayed in the Hammond Public Schools' 1957 Annual Science Fair, where many MHS projects were entered.

Morton High School students from various science classes participated in two science fairs this year: the 1957 Annual Hammond Public Schools Science Fair, at the Technical-Vocational High School gymnasium March 29 and 30, and the Northwestern Indiana Regional Science Fair, at Valparaiso University April 6. Although competition was keener at the Valpo fair, a student did not need to get a first place in the Hammond fair to enter it.

Gerald Spitzer, Morton biology teacher, was general chairman of the Hammond fair, in which seven Morton students got first places with five projects.

At the Valparaiso fair Charles Pitzele got a first place in the experimental biology category and took second-place sweepstakes honors with his project, "The Effect of Electrical Stimulus upon the Brain of the Albino Rat." The sweepstakes award entitled him and Julian Rasmussen, his teacher, to attend the National Science Fair in Los Angeles, Calif., May 8-12.

Other firsts in the Valpo fair went to Carol Moats, whose project, "Photograms," was entered in the physics techniques category; Ted Tarr, whose "Electroless Nickel-Plating" project, which he worked on with Richard Fleming and Jerome Babitz, was entered in the chemistry descriptions category, and Lois Walder, whose project, "Procedure in Dissection of the Frog Shown in Color Photographs," was entered in the zoology descriptions category.

HIS WORK on this project won Charles Pitzele a trip to the National Science Fair in Los Angeles, Calif.

RICHARD FLEMING and Jerome Babitz show their nickel-plating project, which they worked on with Ted Tarr, to a potential scientist at the Hammond fair. The trio won firsts with the project at Hammond.

Budding Musicians Perform at Festival

THE COMBINED public school instrumental groups were combined further on May 10 into this mass of over 1,000 young musicians.

The Hammond Public Schools' Music Festival was held May 8 and 10 at the Civic Center after a two-year lapse of time since its last presentation. The festival was not held last year in order to allow time for its reorganization: this year all combined vocal groups performed one evening and all combined instrumental groups performed the other evening; formerly at least one vocal group and one instrumental group performed on each of three evenings.

Members of the MHS band and choir performed in all-city groups with students from Clark, Tech, and Hammond High; Morton orchestra members performed in a combined group with students from Clark and HHS.

MORTON BAND director John Melton leads the all-city high school band in the playing of the "Student Prince Overture."

THE ALL-CITY public school vocal groups were gathered together on the Civic Center bleachers on the evening of Wednesday, May 8.

AFTER IT was all over, graduates and their parents gathered in front of the school to chat.

End and a Beginning for Seniors

Graduation week—the "big one" for seniors—included Baccalaureate services and Commencement exercises.

Sunday, June 9, was the date of Baccalaureate, held in Morton's auditorium. Over 180 seniors heard the Rev. Robert Byquist, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church, deliver the invocation and benediction, and the Rev. John Eastwood, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church, speak on "A Right Sense of Values."

The Rev. Dr. Eastwood urged the graduates to place "the test of time, the test of eternity, and the test of the spirit" on all actions that they may be considering.

To the organ strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," the class of 1957 marched down the middle of the Civic Center floor at Commencement

June 13. The largest graduating class in MHS history heard the invocation and benediction by the Rev. A. W. Reinig, pastor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church; the salutatory address by Janet Jeppeson, and the valedictory addresses by Ted Tarr and Glenn Schram. Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi, professor of economics at Bradley University, Peoria, Ill., and former minister of finance in free Hungary, gave the main address, entitled "Shall We Survive?"

Dr. Nyaradi said that it is up to today's youth whether the United States will suffer horrors like those recently inflicted on his homeland.

DR. NICHOLAS Nyaradi, of Bradley University, speaks at Commencement.

LISTENING TO Dr. Nyaradi speak on "Shall We Survive?" are the 184 members of the class of 1957 — the girls dressed in white caps and gowns and the boys, in blue — at the Fourth Annual Morton

High School Commencement exercises June 13 in the Hammond Civic Center.

Seniors Don Beards, Pigtails, Shades

ELAINE OSOLINSKI, Beverly Boesch, Barbara McLean, and JoAnn Poole are "all shook up" at the Class Day assembly. Also at the assembly, Association President Tony DeRosa presents the top hat, gloves, and cane to President-elect Bill Beaver; and Jan

Searls, Bob Jeppeson, and Lynne Fitzwater are residents of Bransondale Sanitarium in the senior class prophecy.

PEGGY MAUGER, Barbara McLean, Mary Ann Kozubal, Greta Simpson, Joyce Neal, and Jan Searls sport braids and bows on Bow Day.

An annual week at MHS honoring seniors is Senior Week. Starting with Silent Day on Monday, the week continued with Bow Day on Tuesday, Loyalty Day on Wednesday, Backward Day on Thursday, and Class Day on Friday. It was silly, but 95 per cent of the seniors agreed that true senior characters were displayed.

SENIORS WEAR their mint-green and black sweaters and cords on Loyalty Day. It was also Shade Day; notice those sun glasses.

At Morton there's an organization to suit everybody's interest . . .

READY TO BEGIN a meeting of Congress are President Tony DeRosa, Recorder Betty Feldt, and Vice-President Glenn Schram.

PRESIDENT TONY DeRosa often sought the advice of members of his Cabinet. Here he meets with Don Stryzinski, secretary of public safety; Gale Bradford, secretary of social affairs; Alice Hopman, secretary of the Treasury, and Jerry Arcella, secretary of justice.

MHS Association

Mortonites' School Government:

The Morton High School Association, an organization of all MHS students and teachers, proved itself successful during the 1956-57 school year. Through the able leadership of the executive officers and sponsors, the Association advanced from a glimmer of hope in the eyes of optimists to a respected, efficient organization.

This year's accomplishments, such as beginning the revision of the Constitution, organization of plans for a student lounge, and improvement of the public address and lighting systems in the gym, evidence the Association's success.

The government of the Association consists of three elected executive officers—the president, vice-president, and recorder—and four appointed executive officials, who comprise the president's Cabinet—the secretary of justice, the secretary of public safety, the secretary of the Treasury, and the secretary of social affairs. There are also a two-house Congress, composed of a Senate and a House of Representatives, and a Student Court, composed of a chief justice, who is also secretary of justice, and four associate justices, one from each class.

Meeting on service club Tuesdays, Congress filled its short 35-minute meetings with propositions, discussions, and decisions that affected the welfare and future of Morton High. Numerous committees were appointed by President Tony DeRosa.

At each meeting reports were required from both the committees and the Cabinet members. The latter told Congress of their recent work and requested either help or appropriations.

FRESHMAN JUSTICE

of Them, by Them, and for Them

The Wednesday following each meeting of Congress, representatives were supposed to make reports to their respective homerooms.

Headed by Chief Justice Jerry Arcella, the Student Court tried many cases of student misbehavior which the school administrators would ordinarily have had to handle.

The government was very active in working on the a-v and lighting improvements for the gym. Payment for this project was divided among three organizations: the Association, the Junior High School Student Council, and the Cinema Club.

Another project the government worked on was the future student lounge. Located in the east portable, the lounge will have two rooms when it is opened next fall; one room will be used as government headquarters and also as a place where students may read quietly and committees may confer, and the other room will contain a television set, radio, and jukebox.

The government carried on its own elections and all class elections; purchased a three-year supply of student handbooks, and erected eight signs pointing to Morton School.

Mrs. Estelle Gress, Miss Kay Leopold, and Glenn Flansburg sponsored the Association this year.

MEMBERS OF the House of Representatives were as follows: Row 1—Deborah Smith, Lea Evans, Karen Daniel, and Carol Krupa. Row 2—Judy Kreiler, Phyllis Schmidt, and Janice Hanzl. Row 3—Judy Mathes, Marsha Muha, and Ronald Klindt. Row 4—Paula Spitale, Ruth Kessler, and Pat Dunn. Row 5—John Fekete, Agnes Scofield, and Mary Ann Cook. Row 6—Jim Kackley, Bill Shannon, Don Butler, and Wayne Lee. Row 7—Dennis Doughty, Diane Pete, and Carole Stowers.

Bookmakers Take Bets All Year:

SMILING GAYLY for the photographer are these members of the '57 TOP HAT staff and their sponsor (clockwise): Peggy Mauger, Allan Quigley, Anthony Wauro, Pat Fitzgerald, and Glenn Schram.

The 1957 TOP HAT is the "best yet," according to this year's yearbook staff. Devoting at least one hour a day for five (and sometimes six) days a week, staffers worked under the direction of Anthony Wauro, annual sponsor.

Staff members working on the editorial end of the yearbook included Glenn Schram, editor-in-chief; Pat Fitzgerald, associate editor-in-chief; Karen Daniel, photo editor; Betty Feldt, copy editor; Alex Gardner, copy writer, and Gloria Nemcek and Judi Rubense, typists. Peggy Mauger was business manager, and Allan Quigley served as advertising manager.

While overseeing the entire yearbook staff, Mr. Wauro welcomed help from two other teachers. Mrs. Harriette Moylan advised the copy writers, and Mrs. Dorothy Soderberg supervised advertising and homeroom annual sales.

Pictures for the TOP HAT were taken by Bodie Studio and the Morton Photo Club. Bodie's assignments were the formal organization pictures, shots for the "people" sections, and some of the activity and classroom photos. The Photo Club took the rest of the activity and classroom shots. Besides taking photos, the club, sponsored by Julian Rasmussen, did developing and enlarging.

The Photo Club did work not only for the annual, but also for the Mortonite and Hessville-Woodmar Lite. Members took several interesting trips to Chicago, visiting such places as Billings Memorial Hospital, the Art Institute, the Daily News photo laboratory, the CBS television studio, and China Town.

RESPONSIBLE FOR the sale of the TOP HAT were these homeroom annual salesmen and their adviser: Row 1—Connie Parsons, Sharron Morey, Joyce Darnell, (space), Peggy Mauger, Judy Klen, Juanita Paquin, Beverly Ford, Sally Aageberg, Leslie MacDonald, and Betty Takacs. Row 2—Mrs. Dorothy Soderberg, Yvonne Gardner, Kathy Barno, Joan Brown, Bernadette Kristoff, Lois Walder, Connie Hatfield, Ronald Johnson, Bob Morris, Leroy Schmoekel, and Jim Bradley.

Will We Get the TOP HAT Out?

WORKING ON the editorial end of the year-book were Mrs. Harriette Moylan, Judi Rubense, Gloria Nemcek, Linda Smith, Bill Shannon, Karen Daniel, Betty Feldt, and Alex Gardner.

THE JOB of selling advertising space to help finance the TOP HAT belonged to Deborah Smith (seated) and (standing) Bill Holland, Ramona Adams, John Zgunda, Alice Evert, and Mrs. Dorothy Soderberg. They are shown against a background of TOP HAT dummy layouts.

Band

Bandmen Come Home from Griffith

FIRST— AND second-part clarinet players were as follows: Row 1—Janet Baker, Margie Schaeffer, David Cook, and Betty Feldt. Row 2—Lynne Fitzwater, Sarah Skelton, Marie Melton, Helen Shoemaker, Pat Sebahar, and Janet Slivka. Third-part clarinetists included

these students: Row 1—Lavonne Stavitzke, Agnes Scofield, Stanley Mize, and Leslie MacDonald. Row 2—Mary Ellen Magill, Joyce Stevens, Carole Rosenberger, Joyce Kelderhouse, Larry Overman, and Franklin Sikich. Charles Bay was associate band director.

CARL MELTON, Nancy Renfrow, JoAnne Evans, Mary Ann Cook, Betty Czech, Larry Smith, Marcia Cook, and Carole Shoemaker made up the flute section in Morton's state-champion band. John Melton directed the band.

The Morton High School band won a first division rating in the Northern Indiana School Band, Orchestra, and Vocal Association's state contest in the spring. It was in competition with some of the finest high school bands in the country, including those from Hobart and Elkhart.

The band's activities during the 1956-57 school year included appearances at the Music Department's evening concerts, participation in the Hammond Public Schools' Music Festival, marching in parades, and performances at Morton home football games. In addition, it held a "drive-in" concert on the blacktop early in June. Members of the audience were able to remain in their cars while listening to the band at this event.

THE BACKBONE of any band is its bass section. Morton's sousaphone players were Lennie Gillam and Daryle Riegle, and Pat Fitzgerald played the upright tuba. Baritone players were Jim Mahon, Sue Berkheiser, Juanita Paquin, and Carolyn Johnson.

with a First Division Rating

hoff, Dennis Williams, Marvin Frank, Kathleen Steele, Harold Shirley, and John McCann.

CAROLE EICHELBERGER and Deborah Smith played oboes; Martha Williams, bass clarinet; June Davis, alto clarinet; Bill Highland, bassoon.

THE BAND'S French horn section, headed by George Hand, consisted also of Lorna Clark, Pat Miles, Pat Garson, Karla Krughoff, and Donna Fitzwater.

"SLUSH PUMPS" is the nickname given to the instruments played by these trombonists: Glenn Schram, Jim Stivers, Sue Losh, Harold Tunis, David Wright, Regina Spencer, and Joan Sherby.

JIM ARCELLA, Sharon Adams, Carol Ann Socks, and Saundra Laffoon played alto saxophones. Tenor saxes were played by Sharon Enoksen and Joe Petska.

PLAYING IN Morton's percussion section were Jim Kackley, Linda Smith, Ken Bergner, Lamont Wolff, Jerry Steele, Bernard Goetzing, and Bruce Sheline.

THESE HIGH-STEPPING twirlers led the band in parades and performed at home football games: Marie Melton, Agnes Scofield, Janet Derflinger, Janet Slivka, Betty Czech, Janice Hanzi, Joyce Dukeman, Roberta Smith, and Janet Novath.

HALFTIME AT the Hammond Bishop Noll - MHS football game saw the band spelling out "Fire" in observance of Fire Prevention Week.

Carl Melton received this year's Arion Award, presented through the co-operation of the Hessville Lions, for being the most valuable graduating senior in Morton's Music Department. He was chosen by his fellow musicians.

This year's band was conducted by John Melton, director, and Charles Bay, associate director.

Marching in front of the band in all parades and performing in halftime shows at football games were the twirlers, coached by Mrs. John Melton.

Orchestra

Fiddling with Fiddlesticks

Unlike the band, the orchestra had no rehearsals during the school day. Therefore, members rehearsed Monday and Wednesday mornings, before school started officially. Because they didn't rehearse daily, orchestra members who didn't also belong to the band couldn't get an instrumental music credit unless they practiced individually for an hour each day during study hall time.

Directed by John Melton, the orchestra appeared at plays, at Baccalaureate, and in two concerts.

Choir, Mixed Ensemble, Girls' Ensemble

Morton's Singers Do a Noteworthy Job

Improving and enlarging every year, the vocal music section of the Morton High School Music Department has become an outstanding feature of the school. The vocal division consists of the high school vocal music class and the high school choir. The former is a training course for the latter; a student must have had at least two semesters of vocal music and be a junior or senior before he can be considered for choir. Like the band, the choir is an organization with the status of a class, meeting one period a day.

This year two smaller vocal music organizations, each composed of selected choir members, were formed. The mixed ensemble sang for several luncheons, and the girls' chorus performed at the Red Cross style show.

The vocal division presented its version of the annual "Friars' Follies" of the New York Friars' Theatrical Club on May 17. The Morton "Follies" were produced and directed by Mike Miller and Miss Barbara Miller, choir director.

Vocal musicians participated in three Music Department concerts and the Hammond Public Schools Music Festival. They also sang Christmas carols at the Edward C. Minas Co. in downtown Hammond.

CHOIR MEMBERS Judi Rubense, Greta Simpson, Barbara McLean, Eleanor Baldin, Ken Bergner, Bob Smalley, Margaret Beckett, David Cook, and Jim Bradley made up a mixed ensemble.

Varsity, Frosh Cheerleaders; Booster Club

Mortonites Are Always There

LEADING YELLS for varsity Governor teams were Greta Simpson, JoAnn Poole, Janis Frankovich, and Virginia Chizmar.

CAROL HELDING, Leslie MacDonald, Donna Fitzwater, and Sandy Buldak were the peppy cheerleaders who livened up frosh football and basketball games.

School spirit has to be given a little push now and then. To help maintain and foster it, varsity and freshman cheerleaders led yells at MHS football and basketball games and pep sessions.

Miss Evelyn Schurr, sponsor of the cheerleaders, held cheerleading try-outs in the spring. Next year's yell leaders, like this year's, were chosen on the basis of skill, sportsmanship, and scholarship.

School spirit was given a further lift during the year by the Booster Club, made up of loyal student boosters. Organized since MHS became a four-year high school, the Booster Club was sponsored this year by Donald Harper and Misses Kay Leopold and Harriet Nichols.

The club sponsored booster buses to out-of-town games at Benton Harbor, Mich.; Mishawaka, and Indianapolis. Planning pep sessions and organizing cheering sections were an important part of the organization's activities. Morton's new baseball team was given a brilliant start when the Booster Club, MHS Association, and Athletic Department co-operated to open its season with a booster tag sale and special assembly.

"SEND A CHEER across the floor . . ."

Morton's varsity cheerleaders lead a yell at a Booster Club-sponsored pep session as the pep band plays on.

To Cheer the Governor Teams On

That was only half the Booster Clubbers! Most of the rest of the members and another of the sponsors are shown in the second picture. They are as follows: Row 1—Linda Hart, Marge Burton, Diane DeLarbe, Kathy Sheaks, and Jerry Tomich. Row 2—Barbara LaBelle, Florence Desmond, Sandy Neal, Sandy Capalby, and Shirley Frohock.

Row 3—Pat Miskosky, Bonnie Jackowski, Judy Mominiack, Salli Von Almen, Bernie Churilla, Cathy Frigyes, Ann Bolen, Carol Van Senus, Sally Majewski, Bonnie Nelson, Bessie Anderson, and Pam Gaughan. Row 4—Bill Peterson, Bill Stewart, Georjean Purnea, Lillian Zimmerman, Kathryn Mirzalli, Betty Takacs, Madelyn Lee, Florence Hart, Rita Kovach, Judy Dowling, JoAnn Evans, Sandy Buldak, Connie Doughman, Linda Johnson, Judy Bogan, Margo Kestner, and Donald Harper.

Row 6—Henry Mysliwy, Orvel Stephenson, JoAnn Brilmyer, Bernadette Kristoff, Joan Brown, Judy Svenningsen, JoAnn Cvitkovich, Charlotte Bittner, Judy Lutes, Zoe Bachmann, Kathy Hindmarch, Joan Primich, Bonnie Elman, and Norma White.

Booster Club members were very active this year, sponsoring booster buses to Governor football games in Benton Harbor, Mich., and Mishawaka and the Indianapolis Shortridge basketball game; organizing pep sessions and cheering sections, and helping to start Morton's first baseball season off with a bang.

ONE OF THE Booster Club's best pep sessions was the one based around a "Micky Mouse Club" team. Here a group of Morton Mouseketeers are getting ready to greet the Governor varsity basketball squad.

Student Library, Bookstore, Cafeteria, Clinic, and Office Workers

Students Serve Their School, Gaining Valuable Experience

ASSISTING MISS M. Aileen Allman, Morton librarian, in the library this year were these girls: Row 1—Beverly Muffet, Ruth Kessler, and Mary Ellen Barry. Row 2—Barbara Williams, Vicky Jenkins, Eleanore Balka, Cleona Fields, Betty Feldt, Karen Daniel, Carol Brown, Judi Rubense, and Nancy Feldt.

WORKING in the bookstore under the guidance of Miss Kay Leipold were these students: Janet Jepsen, Gloria Patrick, Kathryn Snyder, Shirley Golec, Judy Rosenberger, Pat Miles, Margaret Miller, Roy Ogborn, and Jim Harrison.

LEROY JOHNSON, Edward Williford, Larry Bline, Jim Hopp, Harold Jones, Lamont Wolff, Jack Cunningham, Donna Szafrczyk, Harold Tunis, Marvin Frank, and Larry Czerniak were faithful cafeteria workers.

The Morton students who worked in the school's library, bookstore, cafeteria, clinic, and office had a two-fold purpose in doing so: they wanted to gain valuable experience in fields which interested them, and they wanted to serve Morton High School.

A good book is supposed to be a good friend; a good library worker who enables one to obtain a good book is a good friend also. Morton's student librarians, who worked under the direction of Miss M. Aileen Allman, school librarian, proved to be good friends to their fellow students by helping them to locate books—and other materials as well; by checking materials "in" and "out," and by being generally helpful to Miss Allman as she went about her duties as librarian.

Helping Mrs. Gladys Reynolds, Morton treasurer, handle financial transactions in the bookstore were the student bookstore workers. They performed their services under the direction of Miss Kay Leipold, a teacher in the Morton Commercial Department.

Each period of the school day would find a bookstore assistant ready to sell his fellow Morton students much-needed school supplies. In addition, bookstore helpers sold tickets for various school events and collected locker fines for the Student Court.

Not only did the cafeteria helpers serve their school and gain experience in their lunchroom duties, but each got a free meal every day as well. They performed such tasks as selling milk and candy to cafeteria diners and cleaning dishes and silverware.

Girls who worked in the clinic learned practical rules of health. Under the guidance of Miss Laura Gibson, Morton's school nurse, clinic assistants learned how to administer first aid, how to give screening tests, how to keep health records, and in general how to assist in a school health program.

Since appointment to the position of clinic helper depended on the recommendation of her counselor, a girl needed to be a good student and a very dependable person in general to get such an appointment.

Morton's capable student office helpers assisted with the office routine and learned sound business practices at the same time.

Whether they were collecting attendance slips from classrooms, or "running off" tests on the Ditto machine, or typing out reports, or performing other duties for Mrs. Isabel Payne and Miss Joyce Emerson, Morton's office staff, efficiency was the watchword for the Morton office helpers.

It appears that Morton's student workers fulfilled their purpose.

THESE CLINIC helpers gained valuable nursing experience working under Miss Laura Gibson, school nurse: Row 1—Tanna Scofield, Margaret Vickerman, Ramona

Adams, and Judy Croy. Row 2—Mary Modjeski, Pat Sebahar, Naomi Murchek, Kathy Barno, and Beverly Novak.

Stage Crew, Junior Theater Guild, Theater Guild

These Groups Help in Production

Morton's Theater Guild sponsored the all-school fall play, "Jane Eyre," based on the novel of the same name by Charlotte Bronte, and the Christmas pageant, "Let's Keep Christmas," by Peter Marshall.

Although many guild members had parts in these two productions, membership in the guild was not a requirement for MHS students wishing to participate.

Members of the guild, whose meetings were held in the evenings, went to Chicago with Morton National Honor Society members to see "The Great Sebastians," starring Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne.

The Junior Theater Guild, meeting on alternate club periods, put on several one-act plays with and for its own members.

The Stage Crew, together with the Art Club, worked on lighting and scenery for the two Theater Guild productions and helped with such work on the senior play.

Miss May Virden and Mrs. Lucy Hack sponsored the three stage groups. In the Theater Guild productions and the senior play, which they worked on also, Miss Virden served as director and, together with Art Club sponsor Anthony Wauro, supervised scenery and lighting; Mrs. Hack handled finances and make-up.

THEATER GUILDERS Nina Hayworth, Ruth Christensen, Mrs. Lucy Hack, and Dorothy Balka apply make-up to Ramona Adams, Betty Feldt, and Alex Gardner for their roles in "Arsenic and Old Lace," Morton's senior class play.

Art Club

School Art Work: from Gourds to Scenery

THESE ART Club members are making decorations out of gourds for sale at Morton's Fall Festival.

The Art Club had an eventful year. Members worked on stage settings for "Jane Eyre," the Christmas pageant, and "Arsenic and Old Lace," contributing many study-hall and after-school hours to seeing that sets were ready by curtain time. Also they visited the Art Institute and the Whitaker and Guernsey Studio in Chicago.

The theme of their annual dance was "The Thing." The Thing was a cubistic guitar player 18 feet tall made from cardboard cartons and named Elvis Frankenstein. Masks made by club members were given to guests as they arrived at the dance. During the evening parent chaperones selected persons wearing the most original masks to compete in a contest judged by the chaperones.

In order to finish its many projects the club began to meet from 7 to 9 p.m. every other Wednesday at the start of the second semester. Late in spring, when the weather proved suitable and the evenings long, the group, under the sponsorship of Anthony Wauro, made outdoor sketching trips in the vicinity of the school.

ALWAYS READY to assist the Stage Crew when it came to making scenery for Morton plays were members of the Art Club.

"LADIES, GENTLEMEN,

Forensics Club, Debate Team

Silver-Tongued Orators Get NFL Charter

The MHS Forensics Club took pride in its attainment of membership in the National Forensics League this year. The awarding of the NFL charter culminated months of working for points by members through participation in such events as original oratory; extemporaneous speaking; oratorical, dramatic, and humorous declamation; poetry reading, and radio announcing.

Although a student had to be a member of the club to get NFL points, he did not have to be a member to be in speech and debate meets. One member of the debate team, for example, was not a Forensics member.

During the year several competitive speech meets were held in region high schools, with Morton acting as a host school in March. In December, Forensics Club members and other students journeyed to West Lafayette to attend the Annual High School Debate Conference and Legislative Assembly.

Morton winners in the district open speech contest at Hammond Clark included Bill Beaver, Cecelia Clark, and Betty Zitko. Winston Becker and Frank Palko sponsored speech and debate activities this year.

LISTENING TO Alex Gardner, a fellow debater, are these members of the Morton High School debate team: Richard Jarnagin, Jim Harrison, and Sheila Virag.

Cinema Club

"Gibson Boys" Do Morton's A-V Work

ONE OF THE members of the Cinema Club, Jim Dekoker, is working the rewinding apparatus in one of the audio-visual aids rooms.

GARY RUHS, an experienced movie projectionist, is finishing running a movie for a class in the projection room behind room 234A.

One of the oldest organizations at Morton, the Cinema Club, has grown from a small group to a large, well-equipped, smooth-functioning organization. Arthur Gibson, as Morton's audio-visual aids co-ordinator, was the sponsor of the group.

The name "Cinema Club" implies that club members were limited to taking care of slide and movie equipment. This, however, was not the case. For they were in charge of most of the school's phonographs and tape recorders as well.

In addition, every event that required loudspeaker facilities—such as a record dance in the gym or on the blacktop or an auditorium session—found a Cinema Clubber or two on hand to make sure that everything ran smoothly.

The club improved its facilities during the year by obtaining storage space for equipment in the school office, using a microphone with sound movies, and using a cart to carry equipment from room to room.

The club and a-v equipment occupied two special rooms—room 234A, which is equipped with a movie screen, loudspeaker, and black window shades, and a projection and storage room in back of the main room.

Actually, there were two Cinema Clubs at Morton last year—a junior high club and a high school club. However, the TOP HAT, as a high school yearbook, is mainly concerned with the latter.

Junior high club members learned the use of a-v equipment, while senior high club members accepted additional responsibilities by signing up for specific committee work.

Some of the committees were as follows: cleaning and oiling motion picture projectors, inspecting and shipping movie film, taking care of other equipment, operating loudspeaker systems in the gym and auditorium, and taking care of classroom film requisitions and orders.

Monitors

Hall Conduct Is Supervised By Students

Monitors were responsible for keeping order in the halls when classes were in session. With 15 monitors on duty each period all important posts were covered. Sponsored by Nick Luketic, monitors checked passes of students out of their assigned classrooms and directed visitors to the office for special passes.

MONITORS LIKE Don Batsel were stationed throughout the halls of Morton to keep order when classes were in session.

Newspaper Staff

MORTONITE: The Voice of the Students

culation manager; Judy Howard, headline editor; Beverly Novak, reporter, and Carl Melton, make-up editor. Row 2—Bill Shannon, sports editor; Ron Daun, sports writer, and Glenn Schram, editorial editor. The paper came out 16 times this year.

"The Voice of the Students," the motto appearing under the logotype, or nameplate, of the Mortonite, MHS newspaper, was very appropriate; for all news and feature articles, editorials, and columns in the paper were written concerning Mortonites by Morton students.

Staff members working on the editorial end of the paper wrote, copy-read, headlined, and proofread copy and laid out pages, while those on the business end were in charge of circulation and selling ads.

Students in Mrs. Norma Kelly's laboratory class in journalism were largely responsible for getting out the paper, with assistance coming from nonjournalism students in such fields as editorials, sports, and make-up. Like band and choir, journalism was really an organization—in this case an outgrowth of the old Press Club—with a class standing.

This year the Mortonite won a first for having the best features and received six honorable mentions in the Hammond Times' annual contest for high school newspapers in its circulation area.

SPORTS EDITOR Bill Shannon watches a printer operate a press at the Home Publishing Co., printer of the Mortonite.

COULD THAT be her "The Other Half" column that editor-in-chief Pat Palmer is watching Irvin Howard set on the Linotype?

Indiana Junior Historical Society Chapter

Pottawatomians Trace Hoosier History Trail

"This morning the children came in to me . . . with the cry, 'Indians, Mother, Indians!'"

"I quieted the children by telling that . . . they were some of the Pottawatomies who came . . . to see their Indian graves on the south bank of the (Grand Calumet) River."

This excerpt from the diary of Mrs. Ernst Hohman, part of the first family to settle in downtown Hammond, was written in 1859. Because the Pottawatomie tribe has an older history than any other Calumet Region group, Morton's chapter of the Indiana Junior Historical Society is its namesake.

This year society members took a trip to southern Indiana with other students interested in social studies, visiting such places as Corydon, the first state capital and the hometown of Mrs. Olive Byers, sponsor. In May the group held an awards breakfast in the cafeteria.

Girls' Club, JRC Chapter

Mortonites Better Themselves, Others

TO HELP needy families in foreign countries these busy members of the Morton Chapter of the Junior Red Cross are packing Christmas gift boxes.

The Morton Girls' Club is a relatively new organization, having been organized for only two years. Its purpose is to acquaint members with rules of gracious living.

Panel discussions on questions of etiquette enlivened this year's meetings of the club, sponsored by Miss Jacqueline Martine; and film strips on various aspects of social life proved to be practical as well as entertaining. Members had fun putting on skits showing the "do's" and "don'ts" of daily living.

Morton's Junior Red Cross chapter, under the sponsorship of Miss Anna Evanoff, set off its enrollment drive by sponsoring the movie "My Friend Flicka." Members sent their annual gift boxes overseas before Thanksgiving, donated to the Hammond Christmas Cheer Fund, presented a style show, and purchased supplies for Beatty Memorial Hospital in Westville and the North Township Men's Shelter.

In February and March the group made tray favors for Parramore Hospital in Crown Point and contributed to the local and national Red Cross funds. Judy Howard, Jean Cvitkovich, and Edwina Grcevic were president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively, of the JRC City Council.

One of the most interesting clubs at Morton, the Phy-Chem Club this year had a membership of 50. Mrs. Esther Hand, sponsor, worked with the officers to plan programs for the purpose of furthering students' interest in physics and chemistry. Guest speakers from scientific fields and club members spoke on topics of current interest at the group's meetings.

For the first time the club awarded pins to members who had earned a sufficient number of points. This summer it sent one of its members to the High School Science Institute at Indiana University, Bloomington.

To give members a better understanding of biology was the purpose of the Morton Biology Club, sponsored by Julian Rasmussen. To accomplish that end members took field trips to the Chicago Museum of Natural History and the Indiana Dunes State Park. In addition, speakers on biology addressed members at club meetings: Dr. Kenneth Wilson of Purdue University's Hammond center spoke on college biology courses, and several members spoke on such subjects as skin diving and deep-sea fishing.

Biology Clubbers sponsored a calypso dance this spring and held two roller-skating parties.

Phy-Chem, Biology Clubs

Science Clubbers Are "Up 'n' Atom"

say the four Biology Club officers—who are in a position to know! They and their fellow Biology Clubbers are shown in this photo with Julian Rasmussen, club sponsor: Row 1—Judy Thomas, Carol Van Senus, Sarah Skelton, Lois Walder, and Teddy Allen. Row 2—Gilbert Walter, vice-president; John Fekete, president; Sherrie Lazar, secretary; Gary Gill, treasurer; Bill Ward; Pat Weiss, and Gretchen Krughoff. Row 3—Tom Pumnea, Bill Peterson, Jim Hopp, Dolores Walker, Linda Sain, Charlotte Bittner, Carole Eichelberger, Sharon Adams, Diane DeLarbre, Marlene McMillan, and Jane Hayden. Row 4—Bill Schmid, Dennis Diehl, Roy Ogborn, Joe Wysong, Kenneth Simmers, Dan Weiss, Dave Duma, Dave Cook, Tony Pagliarulo, Margie Schaeffer, Bonnie Nelson, Roberta Smith, and Linda Liming. Row 5—Bill Highland, (space), John Rolfe, Andrew Marek, Larry Czerniak, Floyd MacDonald, Jerry Leedy, David Milne, Charles Pitzele, Richard Austin, Diana Barragree, Lorraine Brosman, Judy Marley, Patty Parker, Sharon Neely, and Sue Martin. This year Biology Clubbers took two field trips—one to the Chicago Museum of Natural History and the other to the Indiana Dunes State Park—and held two roller-skating parties.

Y-Teens, Hi-Y Chapters

Mortonites Practice the Ways of the "Y's"

HI-Y CO-SPONSOR Jack Georgas, Bob Hutchinson, Mike Kors, and Bob Henry prepare to deliver the annual Thanksgiving gift of food donated by Morton students to a needy Hammond family.

Sponsored by Mrs. Lena Bonebrake, the Morton Chapter of the Y-Teens was affiliated with other area chapters through the Teen Dept. of the Hammond YWCA branch.

In October several Morton Y-Teens attended the candlelight initiation ceremony of the East Chicago Roosevelt Y-Teens. The Morton chapter was responsible for decorations at the World Fellowship Tea at the Hammond YWCA Nov. 11, and members made 90 Christmas corsages for ladies at the St. Ann Home in Hammond. MHS Y-Teens sold potato chips to raise money for their philanthropic work.

Preparing and adopting a new constitution kept the MHS Hi-Y chapter very active this year. The group also sold pencils with MHS basketball schedules on them and gave food to needy families at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Several members attended the state Hi-Y convention in Muncie Nov. 16-17. The Morton group, sponsored by Jack Georgas and Ralph Kelly, planned to have one delegate at the summer session of the Eighth National YMCA Congress and two delegates at the Hi-Y summer camp.

FTA Chapter, FNA

There's a Future in These Clubs!

The constitution of the A. W. Clark Chapter of the Future Nurses of America limits membership in the chapter to 40 MHS students who rank high scholastically.

Organized in 1952, the chapter this year gave scholarships to all graduating seniors who plan to teach, raising money for the project by dances and bake sales. The group, which was sponsored by Mrs. Margaret Walker and Miss Louise Williams, also saved Betty Crocker coupons to obtain silverware for Morton teas and receptions.

The Future Nurses of America, organized at Morton for the last three years, does not belong to any state or national organization, although it does receive literature and guidance from a committee on nursing careers.

Members chose two of their group to receive $25 nursing scholarships. Sponsored by Miss Laura Gibson, members also visited the Presbyterian-St. Luke Hospital School of Nursing in Chicago, sponsored a dance, held two "get-acquainted" teas for new members, and heard speakers from the city mental health clinic and county cancer society.

"I PUT my left hand in . . ." Sue Losh, FTA student teacher, leads Miss Jane Morgan's Morton kindergartners in the looby-loo.

MANY OF Morton's FNA chapter members, shown with Miss Laura Gibson, FNA chapter sponsor, dream of the day when they will be wearing a uniform like that of student nurse Elaine Ceglian, a 1956 MHS graduate: Row 1—Eleanor Baldin, Kathy Barno, Loretta Olson, Karen Lutes, and Joyce Dukeman. Row 2—Simone Smith, Sandy Adelsperger, Mary Ann Kozubal, Janice Searls, Janet Jeppeson, Alex Gardner, Pat Sebahar, Lorna Clark, Betty Czech, Phyllis Nelson, and Sharron Christensen. Row 3—Pauline Robinson, Nancy Phillips, Joyce Nemeth, Mary Modjeski, Nancy Lukens, and Rita Shebesh. Row 4—Judy Warren; Judy Stryzinski; Lorraine Baut; Rochelle Stowers; Ella Meade; Sue Jones; Bonnie Thomas; Marlene Tall; Donna Stuhlmacher; Margaret Vickerman; Sue Losh, president; Lynne Fitzwater, vice-president; Pat Fitzgerald, corresponding secretary, and Barbara McCarty, secretary. Row 5—Gloria Nemcek, Diana Martinich, Joyce Neal, Pat Bloom, Carol Nemcek, and Nancy McCooe.

Games Club

New This Year: Chess Champions

Its first year proved very successful for the Games Club. Sponsored by Frank Concialdi, the organization was originally supposed to offer many different games; but chess, because of its stimulating effect, became so popular that the club became known as much by the name "Chess Club" as by "Games Club."

Chess matches were organized, with games being played on a round-robin basis. A final tournament was held at the end of the year.

One of the most interesting clubs at Morton during the 1956-57 school year was the Spanish Club, under the sponsorship of Miss Della Narcisi, Morton's new Spanish teacher. Club activities centered around a study of Spain and Spanish customs.

The club held but one dance during the year, but proceeds from the affair helped considerably to fill the organization's treasury. Members attempted to learn some Spanish songs and dances as part of their study of Spanish life. Also, they planned to hold a farewell party for the seniors among them.

NHS Chapter

Students in "High" Society

To be a member of the Morton Chapter of the National Honor Society is a great honor granted only to outstanding students—students who excel in character, leadership, scholarship, and service. Ceremonies held in the auditorium two times this year to induct new members were of the highest caliber and dignity.

Senior NHS members acted as guides on Business-Industry-Education Day, while junior members served as ushers at Baccalaureate services and Commencement exercises. Sponsored by Miss Mabel Hunter, members saw "The Great Sebastians" with Theater Guilders in Chicago in the fall and attended a delightful banquet at Concordia Lutheran Church after this spring's induction ceremony.

Travel Club

"Globe-Trotters" Tell of Trips

Stimulating and maintaining an interest in travel—objectives of the Morton Travel Club, sponsored by George Nelson—were achieved by including slides, movies, pictures, and talks on travel in club meetings.

This year Carole Moats talked on her trip around Lake Michigan; Sandra Shearer, on her trip to Manitoba; Jerry Oller, on trips to Denver, Colo., Cypress Gardens, Fla., and Mammoth Cave, Ky.; Jim Soltau and Arthur Steinman, on their trips to Minnesota; Jerry Francis, on his trip to Iowa, and Bob Alexander, on his trip to Washington, D. C.

For membership in M-Club boys needed a letter in a major sport. Sponsored by Maurey Zlotnik and Bob Fraser, the club held a dance in the Civic Center following an MHS basketball game, hung pictures of the most valuable players in each sport on the wall of the second-floor corridor, and sponsored the faculty-upper-class homeroom champion basketball game, details on which are on page 80.

Details on the Girls' Athletic Association chapter, sponsored by Miss Evelyn Schurr, are on page 79.

THE M-CLUB was made up of boys having at least one letter in a major MHS sport. Members are shown here with co-sponsor Bob Fraser: Row 1—Don Ritchey, Bruce White, Dick Hmielewski, Jack Mandernack, Ken Ventrella, Clem Wiechecki, Barry Quigg, and Ron Balta. Row 2—Dennis Listenberger, Leroy Robinson, Richard Hopek, Dan George, and Art Fisher. Nineteen fifty-six was a good year for the superstitious but a poor one for the football fans at Morton. The Governor gridiron crew suffered its worst season in 4 years, losing 9 games while winning only 1.

For the believers in superstition the season boded evil from its very outset as the Governors dropped their opening contest to the Pioneers of Clark, 13 to 12. Their case gained strength after Morton's second game, a 19-to-13 loss to Tech. The number 13 made its third appearance in as many weeks at Thornton Fractional as the Meteors won a 13-to-0 decision.

The Governors' lone win, and about the only high point of the season, was at Benton Harbor, Mich., where the Governors partly avenged 2 previous defeats at the hands of Benton Harbor by downing the Tiger eleven, 19 to 7.

Morton's city grid crown returned to the team from which it had been won, the Hammond High Wildcats; the Wildcats dealt the Governors a 30-to-6 defeat.

The low point of the year occurred in the next-to-the-last contest, at Brickie Bowl, Hobart. The highly-rated Brickies belted the Governors to the tune of 47 to 0 for one of the worst defeats in MHS history.

Junior Ben Bethel sparked the Morton offensive punch by scoring 62 of the team's 76 points. Bethel tallied 10 of Morton's 12 touchdowns. Bill Magan and Jack Ward waited until the final moment of the season to break into the scoring column. With but 17 seconds remaining in the final game at Whiting, Ward sprinted 85 yards with a kick-off, and Magan plunged over for the extra point, his only point of the year.

Morton was virtually buried point-wise by its opponents. The Governors tallied 76 points during the 10-game season while allowing their opponents 223 points for a difference of over 2 touchdowns a game. The Governor eleven was shut out 3 times, Thornton Fractional, Mishawaka, and Hobart each turning the trick.

The Governors played their best games against Benton Harbor and the Rough Riders of East Chicago Roosevelt. Morton held the tough Rider crew to 2 touchdowns in its finest defensive display. The Governors, however, faced what was easily classed as the state's toughest schedule; they played 4 of the state's top 10 as well as 1955's champ.

Jayvees Cop 4 of 5; Yearlings Split 8

Coach Jack Georgas' freshman football crew tied for the Hammond city freshman football championship, narrowly missing an undisputed crown. The Homesteader frosh crew of Hammond Clark defeated the Governors to tie for the title. The Governor eleven evenly divided 8 games, winning 4 and losing 4.

The plebes' victims were Whiting's Oilers, Hammond Irving's Panthers, Hammond Tech's Tigers, and the Wildcats of Hammond High.

The Morton junior varsity faired slightly better record-wise. The jayvee eleven, coached by Nick Luketic, won 4 contests but it suffered only 1 setback. Its lone defeat was administered by the Senators of East Chicago Washington.

The "B" team defeated the Bulldogs of Crown Point, the Settlers of Hammond Clark, the Tigers of Hammond Tech, and the Warriors of Hammond Bishop Noll.

The jayvees outscored their opponents by a rather lopsided margin, totaling 92 points while limiting their opposition to 26 markers and only 4 touchdowns. The frosh squad piled up 76 points, but its defense allowed the opposition 69 markers and 11 touchdowns.

Varsity Basketball

Cagers Defeat Whiting, Portage,

A disastrous 8-game losing streak at mid-season sent the Governor basketball crew down to its worst season record in history. The Morton aggregation collected only 5 victories while suffering 14 defeats.

A revenge-minded band of Pioneers from Hammond Clark inflicted the final loss, coming from behind to deal the Governors a 59-to-44 loss in the opening round of the East Chicago Sectional. A week prior to their sectional collision the Governors had rolled up their largest margin of the season against the same Pioneer crew, 81-53.

During the humpty-dumpty season the Governors suffered some of the worst defeats in school history. Crown Point, avenging many years of torment and ending the Governors' jinx against them, trounced the Morton crew, 81 to 50. The Blazers of Gary Edison, in the 2 teams' second meeting of the season, dealt the Governors a crushing 86-to-39 walloping in the Steel City.

Blond senior center Bill Magan was one of the few bright spots in the otherwise dismal season. Magan was the team's top scorer, as he scored 323 points in 19 games for an average at 17.0 points a game. Magan's biggest outburst came in the Clark game when he tallied 31 points. He was rewarded for his efforts by being selected as the team's most valuable player for the year.

Morton was extended into the first overtime contest in its history during the team's holiday visit to Indianapolis. The host Shortridge crew came from behind to tie the score at 56-all in regulation time and managed to squeeze out a 58-to-57 verdict.

The Governors promptly found themselves involved in another extra-session tilt when they returned to the Calumet. In the Gary Edison Tourney, the Pirates of Merrillville handed the Governors a heart-breaking 65-63 loss. Later in the season the same Buccaneer five edged Morton, 66 to 65. Jim Lowe of Merrillville was the villain on both occasions, as he sank the winning bucket in both contests.

The Morton offense totaled 1038 points during the season, for a point-per-game average of slightly more than 54.6 points. The Governor defense left something to be desired, however, as it permitted the opposing teams a total of 1199 points, an average of 63.1 points per game. Six times during the year the opposition reached or topped the 70-point figure, while the Governor quint reached that figure only once, against Hammond Clark.

The latter portion of the season found sophomores and juniors playing much of the time. From this, then, comes promises of better things to come, and, as Coach Bob Fraser will attest, the only way MHS can go from here is upwards.

Coach Jack Georgas' junior varsity basketball aggregation downed the Tigers of Hamond Tech twice and belted Griffith, 37 to 20, for its only triumphs of the 1956-57 season. The "B" crew suffered a total of 11 defeats.

The frosh basketball quint claimed 3 of its last 4 starts of the year for an excellent 10-won and 8-lost mark. The Governor plebes strung out their longest streak of the season, 5 games, near mid-season.

The junior varsity was eliminated in the second round of the city jayvee tourney by Hammond High, after a round-1 triumph over Hammond Tech.

First Morton Diamondmen Finish

The first Morton Governor baseball team suffered a weird final game loss but finished the season with a creditable 6-7 mark. The diamond crew racked up 5 straight wins after losing its first 2 games, but a late-season tailspin dipped its record below the .500 mark.

In their final game against the Oilers of Whiting the Governors, trailing 6 to 3, rallied to tie the host Whiting crew only to have the tying tallies erased by a 6 o'clock curfew.

The Governors moved off to a slow start, but they picked up steam after a 3-2 loss to Hammond Tech, winning 5 in a row before Hammond High snapped the streak. Thornton Fractional, Calumet Township, Gary Mann, Hobart, and Hammond Bishop Noll's Warriors were the victims.

Junior Ed Chick paced the Governor offense, belting the ball at a .364 clip. Chick also led the team in runs batted in with 9. He was rewarded for his efforts by being elected honorary captain for the season. Ken Ventrella was a close second in the batting race, as he hit .345.

In the pitching department, senior Jim Bobowski, who was the Governor diamond crew's most valuable player, was the leader of the staff. He led the Morton mound corps with a fantastic earned-run average of 1.66. He topped the staff with 55 strike outs, yet was tagged with the losses in 7 of Morton's defeats. Sophomore Clem Wiechecki recorded 3 triumphs in as many starts for the Governor nine.

The first Morton baseball team scored a total of 57 points in its 12 games, compared to 51 for its opponents.

Varsity, Frosh-Soph Track

Cindermen Represented at State Finals

The Governor varsity track squad gained representation at the State Finals in Indianapolis for the second year in a row despite a rather mediocre season record in 1957.

Junior half-miler Don Svenningsen was the Governors' delegate to the finale. He finished third in the Mishawaka Regional Meet to earn a trip to the Indianapolis finals. Senior shot-putter Bill Magan missed a trip downstate by less than an inch in his specialty, as he finished fourth at Mishawaka.

The Governors won 2 of their 5 dual meets, defeating Hammond Clark's Pioneers and the Rough Riders of East Chicago Roosevelt. They finished second in the Annual Hobart Relays, behind the host Brickie crew. Morton was also second in the Bishop Noll Triangular Meet, competing against the Warriors and Calumet Township, who won the meet.

The cinder crew was handicapped by the loss of senior miler Don Wilson and 440-man Wayne Gaither due to football injuries. Gaither did run in a few meets, however, after recovering from surgery during the holidays.

Svenningsen was selected as the most valuable player for the year by his teammates. A total of 12 letters were issued, but only 4 to seniors. As a result, Coach Howard Stout will have a strong nucleus for the coming season.

OTHER HILL-AND-DALERS, with Coach Howard Stout, are: Row 1—Randy Tomsic and Duane George. Row 2—John Rosek, Art Fisher, Barry Quigg, and Ed Kliza. Row 3—Lloyd Klamut, Ed Krupa, and Leroy Schmoekel.

The 1956 edition of the Governor cross-country crew, although winning only 2 of its 5 dual meets, marched away with top honors in the Hammond Sectional Meet, beating off a total of 12 challengers by scoring a total of 66 points. At Indianapolis, in the State Finals, the Morton aggregation posted 554 points to finish in the twenty-second position.

Coach Howard Stout's crew held dual-meet verdicts over the Meteors of Thornton Fractional and Crown Point's Bulldogs, but it lost decisions to all three of the Hammond Public School teams—Clark's Pioneers, Tech's Tigers, and Hammond High's Wildcats.

The Morton frosh-soph squad, however, breezed through an undefeated season, downing Hammond Clark's Pioneers, Thornton Fractional's Meteors, the Wildcats of Hammond High, and Crown Point's Bulldogs in dual-meet competition. The frosh-soph squad also claimed first places in the Tri-City Meet, held at East Chicago Roosevelt Field, and the Hammond City Meet, held at Hammond High Field.

The Governors awarded a total of 7 varsity letters for the 1956 season. The letterwinners were as follows: John Rosek, who captained the varsity; juniors Barry Quigg and Bruce White, and sophomores Ed Kliza, Randy Tomsic, Duane George, and Art Fisher.

In cross-country competition, the final positions of the first 5 members of a team are added together, and the total number of points represents the team's score. Unlike teams in most other high school sports, in cross-country the team which scores the least number of points is the winner of the meet.

"GET THAT ball!" yell the fans. And that is just what Miss Evelyn Shurr of Albert's All-Stars is doing in the photo at left. In the picture at right, Miss Jacqueline Martine and Miss Mabel Hunter lead Albert's All-Stars' cheering section.

The GAA chapter was in charge of all girls' intramural sports at Morton. It sponsored the girls' home-room basketball tournament, which was won by 12A1 Anna's Angels, who beat the 12A2 Kelly Kats in a sizzling climax to the tourney. And it chose a girls' all-star team from the junior and senior homerooms to play the Albert's All-Stars women's faculty team. The teachers outscored the GAA Queens, 32 to 31.

In addition, the GAA chapter had a varied program for its own members, consisting of one business meeting every two weeks and sports such as speedball, basketball, volleyball, softball, bowling, ping-pong, badminton, shuffleboard, deck tennis, and regular tennis. One service performed for the school was the donation of a jukebox to the MHS Association.

Girls' phys-ed was a thorough course which taught skills in individual and team sports, knowledge of games, and, perhaps most important, good sportsmanship and honesty.

THE TRAMPOLINE is always a favorite spot during the tumbling course in the girls' phys-ed classes.

Boys' Phys-Ed, Intramural Athletics

Gym, Recreation, Homeroom Tourney . . .

It is not necessary for a boy to participate in interschool athletics at Morton High School to be able to take part in supervised athletic activities.

Morton, in co-operation with the city Park Department, provides an evening recreation program for all high school boys during the winter basketball season.

Also, all boys who are physically fit are required to take a full year of physical education. The phys-ed classes engage in a variety of activities ranging from tumbling on mats to basketball and outdoor softball games.

The highlight of the recreational year is the homeroom basketball tournament. The tourney this year was divided into two divisions. One division was for sophomore and freshman homeroom teams; the other was for junior and senior homeroom teams.

This year's upperclass homeroom tourney was won by the 12A2 Kelly Kats of Mrs. Norma Kelly's homeroom.

Class of 1957

Seniors Sponsor Homecoming, Semi-Formal, "Arsenic" . . .

GALE BRADFORD, Pat Garson, Carlos Vargas, Sue Losh, and Peggy Mauger made up the Executive Board of the 1957 senior class.

Individual members of the class of 1957 did many things of which the class could be proud—from forming athletic records to setting scholastic records. And the class as a whole will remember these achievements for a long time. But more treasured in the memories of this year's seniors will be the things they did as a class.

Who could forget the senior-sponsored Homecoming celebration, with the bonfire pep rally, the crowning of the queen, and the dance in the gym, where students and alumni gathered? Who could forget "Crystal Cotillion," the winter semi-formal, also sponsored by the seniors? Who could forget the shivers, chills, and chuckles of "Arsenic and Old Lace," the senior play? And who could forget the prom, given by the juniors in honor of the seniors?

Then there were the Senior-Faculty Banquet, Senior Week—ending with the Class Day assembly, where the devastating senior prophecy and the hilarious senior will entertained the student body—and finally the inspirational Baccalaureate services and Commencement exercises, climaxed with the awarding of diplomas to 184 class members.

Miss Virginia Davis and Ralph Kelly were the senior sponsors this year. As their class gift to the school, the seniors gave a rheostat for the stage and a number of books for the library.

Class of 1958

Juniors' First Year as Upper-Classmen Climaxed with Prom

JUNIOR OFFICERS: President Judy Hellinga, Vice-President Virginia Chizmar, Secretary Carolyn Johnson, and Treasurer Margaret Beckett.

JUNIOR EXECUTIVE BOARD: Row 1—JoAnn Evans, Judy Stryzinski, and Judy Luchene. Row 2—Joanne Minelli, Carol Gazdik, and Dave Weedon.

HERE A group of juniors are decorating for the junior-senior prom, "Tropical Paradise," which was held at Madura's Danceland.

The 1956-57 school year was a big one for the juniors. Members of the class of 1958 had finally become upper-classmen; they had been able at last to change from mere English students to comp and lit students; many were finally delving into the mysteries of physics.

Most important of all, they were finally able to attend the junior-senior prom, which they sponsored in honor of the class of 1957. Everyone agreed that "Tropical Paradise" was a huge success.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Olive Byers and Walter Ruff, class sponsors, the juniors were well prepared for the leadership that they must assume next year as seniors.

Class of 1960

Frosh Learn Locker Combinations, Study Mythology and Geography

Nancy Feldt was elected president of the class of 1960; David Wollin, vice-president, and Betty Takacs, secretary-treasurer.

The freshmen enjoyed the 1956-57 school year, when they could finally attend high school dances, when those of them who took Latin at last learned how to conjugate sum, when they read David Copperfield.

The class officers tried to have the class sponsor several money-making events but were unsuccessful.

The adults who run Morton are always ready to give one advice or assistance . . .

THE WELFARE of 20,000 young persons in the Hammond Public Schools is in the hands of the Hammond Board of School Trustees and the city school administrators, who are shown in this photo: Row 1—Dr. Henry Eggers, board president; Mrs. Margaret Allen, board member; Harold Chase, board secretary; Lee L. Caldwell, superintendent of schools, and Charles Scott, board member. Row 2—Donald Gavit, business manager; Columbus Smith, board treasurer; John Beckman, attorney; M. Herb Thorsen, director of attendance and welfare; Charles Schonert, superintendent of buildings and grounds, and R. B. Miller, assistant superintendent of schools.

Because of highly-trained teachers and efficient school trustees and administrators, MHS has extremely high teaching standards.

Office, Cafeteria, Custodial Personnel

Personnel Help School To Run Well

MORTON'S CUSTODIAL staff consisted of Mrs. Victoria Quigley, Mrs. Mary Harrison, Carl Reinhardt, Kenneth Hahney, James Cox, James Barley, Mrs. Catherine Boring, and Mrs. Helen Zollner.

Always ready and willing to help MHS students were the school's office, cafeteria, and custodial workers.

A coincidence occurred at Morton this year: the school had 354 elementary and 354 junior high pupils at the start of the second semester. In charge of instructing these pupils were 27 capable teachers.

JUNIOR HIGH TEACHERS: Row 1 (vertical)—Miss Jacqueline Martine, Arthur Gibson, Mrs. Elizabeth Stier, Miss Pauline Lockhart, Dale Skelton, and Marvin Wheeler. Row 2—Anthony Wauro, Mrs. Bess Conrad, Mrs. Doris Johnson, Frank Concialdi, William Todd, and Robert Gollner. Row 3—Miss Barbara Miller, Gerald Spitzer, Mrs. Nora Baker, Mrs. Margaret Walker, and Robert Cochran.

MRS. MARTHA Constant, Mrs. Leona Garson, Mrs. Clara Marion, and Mrs. Martha Shafer prepared and served the delicious meals in the Morton cafeteria.

MISS JOYCE Emerson, Mrs. Gladys Reynolds, and Mrs. Isabel Payne were the ladies who kept the Morton office running smoothly.

Junior High, Elementary Teachers

They Instruct Young Mortonites

ELEMENTARY TEACHERS: Row 1—Mrs. Alice Bailey, Miss Ruth Andersen, Miss Louise Alpaugh, and Mrs. Florence Mills. Row 2—Miss Jane Morgan, Miss Audra

Blunt, Mrs. Dorothy Sherrick, Miss Verda Abbott, Mrs. Edna Shoemaker, and Miss Mary Pastor.

You're saying goodbye to your high school days—but you're saying hello to new, exciting days ahead. Congratulations and welcome to the future!

In this future, Inland Steel's opportunities are yours . . . opportunities open to high school grads.

If you have some mechanical training or aptitude, there are careers open in many fields: as machinists, welders, electricians, patternmakers, pipefitters, boilermakers. There are careers to follow in metallurgy and chemistry. And there are opportunities in the office and clerical fields. The job of production—making the steel needed to keep America strong—offers a challenge to alert, young men.

You can have a "get-ahead" future through Inland's training opportunities. You can get apprentice or on-the-job training to become more skilled in your trade. You also can get college training and a college certificate through the Purdue-Inland Training Program, a program where Inland sponsors you through this course at Purdue Extension.

Inland has been in the busy Calumet Region for more than a half-century. We'll be here in the future, too, because we're a basic industry, making a product used by everyone, including the housewife opening a can of peas and the G.I. firing an artillery shell.

Inland Steel Company serves the nation—and it can serve you, too, in the exciting days ahead.

Inland Steel Company, 3210 Watling St., East Chicago, Ind.

AUTOGRAPHS

Signing the '56 TOP HAT

We who were in charge of the editorial end of the 1957 TOP HAT should like to thank the following:

Mrs. Harriette Moylan and Anthony Wauro, our advisers, for all the help and guidance that they have given us.

Mrs. Dorothy Soderberg, the homeroom annual salesmen, the advertising salesmen, and, by no means least of all, the advertisers, without whom this year-book would not now be in your hands.

Bill Kumpf of Bodie Studios for the fine photographic work he has done. It entailed much time, including many evenings.

Julian Rasmussen and the Morton Photo Club for their splendid cooperation in all phases of photography, and Connie Iliff for her work on the cover design.

The Indiana State Library and Ted Tarr for making available for our use the pictures of Oliver Perry Morton and the statue of him.

And, last but not least, Norman Koenig of the Norman King Co. for his patience in waiting for us to get the material for the book to him.
